Speakers

Carol S. Lidz received her Psy.D. from GSAPP in 1977 in School Psychology. She retired in 2004 after a career of nearly 40 years. She has worked in a variety of venues that include public school, community mental health, rehabilitation, academia, and private practice. Her work also demonstrates that graduates with a Psy.D. can indeed do research and publish, with many articles, chapters, and six books to her name. Her research and publications have focused on the areas of parent-child interaction, preschool assessment, and “dynamic” assessment.

Julian Slowinski received his Psy.D. from GSAPP in 1977 in Clinical Psychology. He has been working in the field of human sexuality for more than 35 years as a clinician, educator, lecturer, consultant, author, and researcher. He is currently in private practice in sex and marital therapy at Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia, where he is Senior Clinical Psychologist in the Department of Psychiatry. Dr. Slowinski is also the former Director of Child & Family Outpatient Mental Health Services at Pennsylvania Hospital. He is the co-author of The Sexual Male, and The Good Sex Guide.
DEAN’S CORNER

Dear GSAPP students,

On Wednesday, March 3 at 12:10-1:30 we will have a special panel presentation on "Career Reflections from GSAPP Alumni."

Each presenter has had a very successful and fulfilling career, Dr. Julian Slowinski in clinical psychology and Dr. Carol Lidz in school psychology (see today’s Gazette for the speakers' bios). They are coming from Philadelphia at our request to talk about their career and interests and to interact with you. This presentation is, in part, a response to your request for speakers who come from the world of practice and can relate to your concerns about career paths after graduation.

To remind you, all students are expected to attend such presentations.
This is why there are no classes on Wednesdays between 12 and 2 and why you are asked to keep that time available for extra-curricular offerings like this one.

As it happens, presentations have gotten bunched up in March but there have been none since the beginning of the semester. I know how busy you all are (so am I!) but you should regard the following presentations/panels as an important part of your GSAPP experience.

Here is the lineup:
March 3--as above.
March 10--Student experiences from this year’s annual Teacher’s College Winter Roundtable on Cultural Psychology and Education.
March 24--Peterson Prize presentation: High Stakes Testing, Social Justice and Professional Psychology

You are welcome to bring your lunch. On March 3 we will supply drinks and cookies, etc.

I look forward to seeing you at these GSAPP-wide activities.

Stan Messer, Dean

SAD NEWS

I regret to inform you of the passing of Arlene Miller’s mother, on Tuesday, February, 23. We will send Arlene fruit/flower basket and a sympathy card from the GSAPP community but I am sure she would appreciate your individual expressions of condolences. When we have more details, we will let you know. Stan
