MESSAGES FROM THE DEAN

Maurice Elias was one of this year's two winners of the Ernest E. McMahon Class of 1930 award. It is given to an individual or group within Rutgers University who has made a significant and creative contribution to the extension of the educational resources of the University to the people of New Jersey. Previous GSAPP winners have been Sandra Harris and, jointly, Brenna Bry and Nancy Boyd-Franklin. Congratulations, Maurice, on a well-deserved honor.

I am very pleased to announce the selection of a new Associate Dean, Jennifer Leon. Jennifer has been at Rutgers for 16 years, the last eight of them as a Director and Program Development Administrator at the Center for Family Involvement in Schools/Centers for Mathematics, Science and Computer Education. She received her BA from Rutgers College and an M.Ed. in Adult and Continuing Education from the Rutgers Graduate School of Education. Jennifer is the mother of two children, a one year old and a three year old. She brings a wealth of experience in administration, budget management, grant getting, and in developing and running programs. She will begin working at GSAPP on Monday, May 21. Please go by her office to welcome her.

Congratulations to Lara Delmolino Gatley who was promoted to Clinical Associate Professor this week. Lara, who is the Center-Wide Assistant Director of the DDDC, does research on predictors of outcome for young children with autism as well as work on best practice interventions. She has served on dissertations for GSAPP students who do their research at the DDDC. She is also one of the three DDDC-based faculty members who teach the 5 course sequence in Applied Behavior Analysis that meet the academic requirement to sit for the national BCBA exam.

We had successfully petitioned the university to allow full-time clinical faculty appointments and Lara is the first GSAPP related faculty member to achieve this status. Good work, Lara!
Congratulations to all our 2006-07 PsyD Graduates!!!

Dear Graduates, dream great dreams and pursue them! Sometimes we understand our goals need to be adjusted, but in reality, we all need to dream. When you dream, do not dream only with ambitions for yourselves. When you dream your dreams, include others in your dreams. Including others in your dreams and investing in their well-being brings joy and depth to your life that people who seek only the superficiality of status and material wealth cannot possess. As you take the short path to life’s journey, remember to dream and pursue great dreams. Thank you for giving me the opportunity to know each one of you. You all have made my job so rewarding, and in this day and age that is priceless. I will miss you all. Sylvia

COLLOQUIUM

Join us for this year’s final colloquium!

Bonnie Spring, Ph.D., ABPP — Northwestern University
Evidence-Based Practice in Psychology: What it is, Why it matters, What you need to know

DATE:   Monday, May 7   TIME:  12:10 - 1:15   ROOM:   A317

Dr. Bonnie J. Spring is a Health Psychologist who is a Professor of Preventive Medicine at Northwestern University. Her talk will describe the history and meaning of evidence-based practice (EBP) in psychology. EBP is an important direction in the field, involving an integration of the best available research, clinical expertise, and specific client factors.

Although EBP has been the subject of controversy in APA, Dr. Spring presents EBP from an independent standpoint.
