

Bin Kagedan, (third year, clinical), has been chosen as an APA Division 39(Psychoanalysis) Graduate Student Scholar for 2015.

The Division 39 Scholars Program for Graduate Students is designed to help foster intellectual curiosity and professional development relevant to psychoanalytic approaches to clinical work, theory and research. The aim of this program is to promote learning about psychoanalysis, and to facilitate open dialogue and exchange of ideas about the future of psychoanalytic thinking, research and practice in the field of psychology and the role of psychologists in the future of psychoanalysis. The award includes a stipend to cover the costs of attending Division 39's Spring Meeting in San Francisco, subscriptions to several psychoanalytic publications, and a year-long mentorship with an experienced psychoanalytic psychologist.

Congratulations Bin!
